[DVDA196-026] 1 x 52 minutes | 2019 | $DVD A: 235/ — $DVD B: 90/
Cat: Cinema and Film Arts, Social Issues

Charles Burnett is an eminent figure of the « Black Independent Movement » during the sixties. His dual identity, as Afro-American and independent filmmaker, makes his work rare and valuable, revealing the shortcomings of American society, unequal and divided. A subtle and powerful storyteller, he describes the lives and dreams of Afro-American families, mixing culture and politics in his own unique way...

BUSINESS AND LABOUR

NOMADIC WORKERS

• Version: « Les aventuriers du travail nomade »
[DVDA296-016] 1 x 52 minutes | 2019 | $DVD A: 235/ — $DVD B: 90/
Cat: Careers and Professions, Industry and Commerce, Workers and Unions

Employees without a fixed desk, teleworkers, self-employed, freelancers, ... they are the new face of a deep mutation in the world of work, of a burgeoning phenomenon, that of distance working, outside the walls of the company. A work revolution that makes some people dream and frightens others. Some see this as a new key to happiness but others perceive this as a new form of alienation, where the border between professional and personal life does not exist anymore, where the rhythm and the pressure are increasing, and where isolation can have heavy consequences.

HISTORY

WITH CASTRO AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME, 1963

• Version: « Avec Castro, à l'heure du crime, 1963 »

[DVDA196-025] 1 x 52 minutes | 2020 | $DVD A: 235/ — $DVD B: 90/

Cat: Contemporary History, Conflicts and Resolutions, Geopolitics, Latin America

Castro saw in Kennedy the only president who believed in coexistence between socialists and capitalists. Yet, we know of the complex relationship the revolutionary had with the United States, crystallised in Cuba by the nationalisation of its commercial interests, which triggered the American embargo and invasion of the Bay of Pigs, the first American military defeat. This documentary aims to establish the links between the past and present through images of Cuba frozen in its eternal embargo, and look back at Cuban-American history from 1963 to the present day, through the vision of a journalist who would go on to become a renowned reporter...

LAW AND JUSTICE

ENCOUNTER WITH MY AGGRESSOR

• Version: « Rencontre avec mon agresseur »

[DVDA196-024] 1 x 70 minutes | 2020 | $DVD A: 255/ — $DVD B: 100/

Cat: Violence and Abuse, Men, Women

December 2017. A woman, victim of rape by a stranger in her childhood, finds herself in dialogue with her attacker, 33 years later. The little girl who was raped is the film's director Maiana Bidegain.

This improbable meeting is possible in France because of the 2014 Restorative Justice Law.... Far from being an end point, this Encounter with My Aggressor is only the beginning of her quest, which takes her across the Atlantic, to Quebec where she meets other victims and aggressors, as well as people who were the pioneers in putting this new vision of justice into practice, where everyone must play an active part in repairing wrongs.

A.R.T. AND SURROGACY GENERATION, THE CHILDREN SPEAK

• Version: « PMA-GPA, la parole aux enfants »

[DVDA196-027] 1 x 70 minutes | 2020 | $DVD A: 235/ — $DVD B: 90/

Cat: Children and Youth, Family, Sexual Diversity, Social Issues

In the past, as moral values have changed, documentaries have recorded the words of children of divorced parents, children of homosexual parents, children brought up in single-parent families... So many different models that, with time, have become "commonplace" and no longer raise questions...Who are these "new" children, these "pioneer" children? What is their vision of their atypical situation? How do they talk about this "particularity" with those around them? With their parents? Their friends? With the "outside world" in general? What do they know of how they were conceived? What were they told? How were they told? What questions remain unanswered? How do they see their future? At a time when a new style of parenting is trying to find its place in our society, this film aims to be a forum for those most concerned: those children who, today, are writing the first pages of this new account.
